

Green bonds are in fashion - to the tune of £100bn

Published: January 12, 2026, 11:19 pm

---

I missed this headline a couple of days ago in the FT:

Climate Capital Green bonds + Add to myFT

UK's debut 'green gilt' sale draws blockbuster demand

Investors place £100bn of bids for 12-year government debt

They added:

The UK's inaugural "green gilt" sale was met with record demand on Tuesday, as the country belatedly joined a growing number of European governments that have sold bonds with proceeds earmarked for environmental spending.

Investors queued up to buy the new 12-year bond, placing more than £100bn of bids — the highest ever for a UK government bond sale — according to bankers working on the deal. The £10bn raised makes it the largest sovereign green bond on record.

All those who now suggest that people would not want to save in the Green New Deal bonds that Colin Hines and I have promoted have this uncomfortable evidence that there is massive demand for green savings products to contend with.