

Lifestyle is a concept that only the rich, and Tory MPs...

Published: January 13, 2026, 7:06 pm

The ability of Tory MPs to shock with their stupidity is, it seems without limit.

Here Andrew Rosindell MP tells Newsnight that great care must be taken with changing rules on MP second jobs as people's lifestyles and their need to make ends meet must be taken into consideration.

https://twitter.com/Zero_4/status/1460742192704765957?s=20

Did he say that when cutting £20 a week from Universal Credit? No, of course, he did not.

Well-being and lifestyle is a concept that only the rich, and Tory MPs can afford, apparently.