

Funding the Future

Be careful what you wish for - Johnson's departure migh...

Published: January 13, 2026, 11:27 am

You might want to take a look at this on Open Democracy, by me this afternoon:

The screenshot shows the Open Democracy website interface. At the top left is the logo 'openDemocracy' with the tagline 'free thinking for the world' and a '20 YEARS' anniversary graphic. To the right is a navigation menu with 'All', 'Themes', 'Projects', 'Regions', 'About', and 'Submit'. The main content area features the article title 'Be careful what you wish for – the Tories won't change if Johnson goes' in a large, bold font. Below the title is a sub-headline: 'The UK prime minister's departure will give even more power to the far Right of the party – the zealots who brought you Brexit and the COVID fiascos'. The author's name, 'Richard Murphy', is listed below the sub-headline. At the bottom left of the article preview, the date and time '19 January 2022, 3:58pm' are displayed.