The European Court of Human Rights was created by Sir Winston Churchill to counter the risk of fascism re-emerging in Europe. Now most Tory leadership candidates want the UK to withdraw from it. Draw your own conclusions.

People died in ambulances waiting many hours to get into hospitals yesterday. And what was Kemi Badenoch's big concern? It was the labelling of loos at the venue for her campaign launch - which were not allowed to be gender non-specific. You couldn't make such indifference up.

Remember those forty new hospitals? Has any Tory leadership candidate mentioned them? Or are they too busy shrinking the state? Forty non-functioning hospitals seems more likely now.

I used to dislike the Tories. But witnessing this leadership campaign it's very hard not to loathe all that they stand for.
