

Back to work

Published: January 15, 2026, 11:30 am

I posted this on Twitter last night:

Richard Murphy
@RichardJMurphy

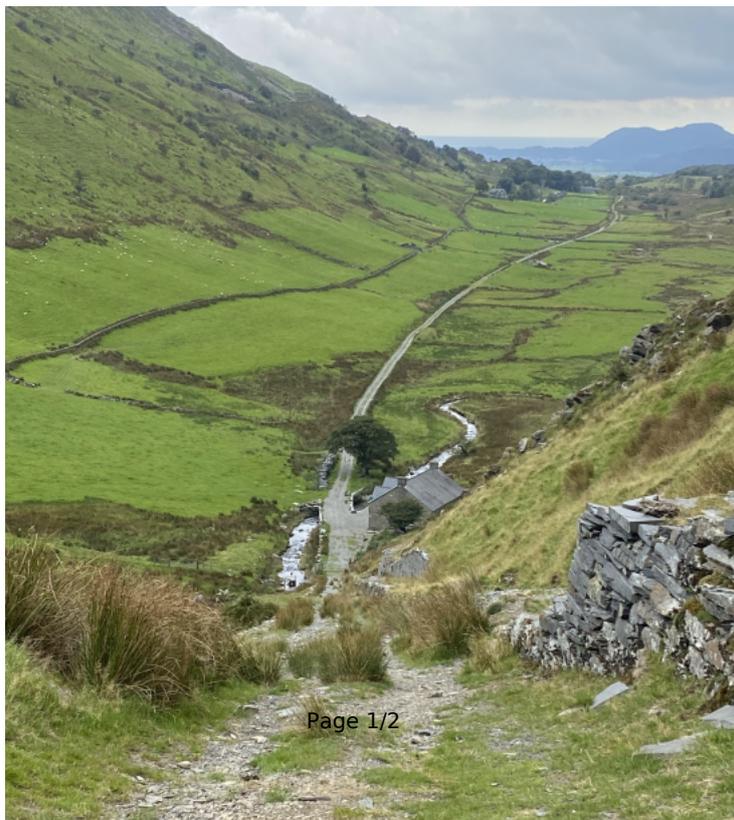

If any Chancellor books a 'fiscal event' in the week I have a holiday away from home booked again I will never forgive them, just as I haven't Kwarteng, but his crimes against society are much bigger than that.

7:36 PM · Sep 24, 2022 · Twitter for iPad

I finally got around to a holiday, having got to the end (I hope) of the post-Covid sinusitis that plagued me all summer, and then the date of the 'fiscal event' was announced. The holiday carried on.

I apologise if the coverage was less than expected, but the holiday was very good. North Wales is a very good place for walking:

The trains are good too:

Now, back to work....