

Funding the Future

What a surprise: only the top 10% gain from the Autumn ...

Published: January 13, 2026, 12:05 am

This is analysis from the New Economics Foundation:

Alfie Stirling
@alfie_stirling

...

NEW @NEF analysis.

The OBR forecast the biggest squeeze in living standards on record. We show how this compares across the income distribution.

Chart shows the gap between rising incomes & rising cost of essentials (MIS), as a % of income.

Outside the top 10%, it's bleak.

6:42 PM · Nov 17, 2022 · Twitter Web App

Alfie Stirling
@alfie_stirling

...

This is how the above chart breakdowns.

Rising nominal income growth (blue bars) far, far lower than the rising cost of essentials (green bars) for all but the highest income 10%.

H/T @Sam_Tims on the analysis.

Guess what? The Tories have made life more difficult in the UK the lower your level of income is, and have done so with rigorous zeal, leaving just the best off to gain from their Autumn Statement.

What a surprise.