I was podcasting again last night, this time with Scotonimics at the invitation of Kairin van Sweeden and William Thomson, its co-hosts.

We discussed the basics of how government is funded, and the MMT explanation for this, missing the controversies on the way. The resulting YouTube is here:

This is a very different style from Steve Keen and Friends. If anyone has seen both (and William from Scotoniomnics did), I would be interested in comparison and opinion on relative worth.
