

New life in Wales

Published: January 16, 2026, 8:07 pm

Having offered a gloomy view of the situation in New York, I offer this photo sent my younger son last night. He was at Aberystwyth castle, watching the day fade in the company of what look to me like two baby wrens:

As Chris Packham would have it, that's what you pay your licence fee for.