

Steve Keen

I will be a little out of action today. That's because I am waiting for Steve Keen to join me for the day.

We're talking economics, Minsky, digital banking and a lot more besides. And I suspect I will be a lot more proficient at using Steve's Minsky software at the end of the day than I am now.

This should be fun.

But moderation may be slow.

Update:

I know a great deal more about Minsky....

We were modelling the impact of central bank digital currency - but it needs more thought.

And I took a selfie of us in front of the cathedral - but as you can probably tell - I never take selfies, and this one is bad.
