

Funding the Future

The best quarter ever - and we're only two months into ...

Published: January 14, 2026, 12:31 am

---

This blog has had its best quarter, which is weird, as we have only had two months of it so far, with June still to come.

This is the data:

The massive increase in blog traffic that began in March as a result of some redesign and rethinking of blog strategy at that time continued in May, with 475,000 reads. Combined with April's 510,000 that makes this the best quarter ever in the blog's history. At this rate the rest of the year is going to be interesting.

Thanks for reading.