

Funding the Future

Sunak talked total nonsense about climate change today,...

Published: January 12, 2026, 8:40 pm

I tweeted throughout Sunak's speech this afternoon. This is what I had to say but you will have to read from the bottom up, I am afraid:

- Richard Murphy  @RichardJMurphy · 4m ...

Sunak ends with an appeal for sympathy because he will get flak for his announcement.

But he ducked parliament and the democratic process when making it.

He deserves to be sacked for contempt of parliament, not to get sympathy.

3 112 356 130
- Richard Murphy  @RichardJMurphy · 11m ...

Never trust a prime minister who says what he has just announced has nothing to do with politics, as Sunak just has.

12 77 311 260
- Richard Murphy  @RichardJMurphy · 12m ...

New word explains every single announcement made by Sunak today.

Uxbridge.

And I seriously doubt ULEZ actually had anything to do with that.

7 28 119 188
- Richard Murphy  @RichardJMurphy · 16m ...

Sunak says he does not want people to be turned off by climate change.

Climate change will happen whether or not people are turned off by it.

The job of government is to lead opinion, but follow it.

He's given up.

13 74 275 296
- Richard Murphy  @RichardJMurphy · 19m ...

GB News asks Sunak for a referendum on climate change.

I quote Clem Attlee:

"I could not consent to the introduction into our national life of a device so alien to all our traditions as the referendum which has only too often been the instrument of Nazism and fascism".

2 28 96 280
- Richard Murphy  @RichardJMurphy · 23m ...

Do you think Sunak believed a word he said this afternoon?

Yes	5.6%
No	94.4%

1,202 votes · 23 hours left

21 46 23 376
- Richard Murphy  @RichardJMurphy · 24m ...