

Edinburgh, tonight

Published: January 13, 2026, 10:15 am

I am travelling to Edinburgh this morning. I am scheduled to be on Debate Night, BBC Scotland's equivalent of Question Time, this evening. That does not mean I will be: the last time this happened, I got as far as Newcastle before turning back, having been cancelled. But, fingers crossed.

You can see the programme at 10.30 pm in Scotland or on iPlayer if you are elsewhere.

In anticipation, what will the questions be? My guesses include:

- * Gaza (half the programme)
- * Inflation
- * Wages
- * The SNP's plans
- * Public services and cuts
- * Green plans

Any others? All sensible suggestions are welcome.
