One in 25 people in the UK are thought to have Covid today.

It turns out that I am one of them.

That's the price of going by plane.

This Christmas both the Royal College of Nursing and the British Medical Association have asked the government why they are not following World Health Authority guidance on clean air. They have been ignored.

As a result of their indifference we have a sick country.

Here, it's going to be a quiet Christmas.
