

Sir Howard Davies: a man deeply out of touch with reali...

Published: January 13, 2026, 5:45 am

I posted this on Twitter about an hour ago:

Richard Murphy
@RichardJMurphy

Sir Howard Davies, chair of NatWest Bank, has just told Radio 4 that he does not think it is hard for people to get on the housing ladder in the UK. That is a staggering demonstration of the disconnect between bankers and reality in this country.

08:22 · 05/01/2024 from Earth · 31K Views

 View analytics

399 Reposts 13 Quotes 1.6K Likes 6 Bookmarks

I admit I was not alone in noticing this, or posting it on X (as it likes to call itself), but it seems that this comment is getting a lot of attention, and appropriately so.

A man so out of touch with reality deserves no role in a bank boardroom, or public life.