On a fairly low turnout, the polling on the time when this blog's daily email update should be sent out was pretty clear:

What time should the Funding the Future daily email go out?

7 pm on the day of publication of posts (79%, 75 Votes)

Midnight at the end of the day of publication of posts
(19%, 18 Votes)

Some other time (please provide a comment on the blog with suggestions) (2%, 2 Votes)

Total Voters: 95

The time will change, if not today, then very soon. The mail will actually go at 6 pm. I can't find the last time I posted later than that in a day, and there must be a good reason why many similar emails (I subscribe to a lot) go out at about that time.

My thanks to those who voted.
