

The Tories have gone nuclear

I liked this from Adam Payne at Politics Home this morning:

Many Conservative MPs will remember this "bleak" week as the moment when they truly gave up any hope of avoiding defeat to Labour at the next general election.

"Something has changed for me this week," said one veteran Conservative MP.

They added:

*"We have done absolutely everything possible to lose the next election," they said.
"We've gone nuclear."*

That seems about right.

Gove, Hester, Sunak, and total humiliation on all fronts. Their game is over.

We really do need a general election,
