

Shirts

Published: January 14, 2026, 5:30 am

---

I received a copy of an email this morning saying:

This is a link to Richard Murphy's video on inflation...

It's excellent, as usual, but...does RJM only have one shirt? The same one or an indistinguishable facsimile thereof appears in every video!

For the record, I have about five near-identical shirts that I almost always wear, except in high summer. I always replace a worn-out one with one of similar design because I am really not a man with great sartorial interest.

So, it's not the same shirt in every video, I can assure you. What is more, if you really want to be amused, you can spend some time spotting the differences.

But that would be sad.