I was asked this morning to ask for the party leaders' debate this week. I recorded this video whilst having a coffee when editing a chapter this morning:

To watch it, you will have to view it here.

And yes, I should have held the phone higher.

There is no transcript.

The question, however, is simple. It is, what do our party leaders think is more important? Subsidising the pensions of the wealthy, or ending child poverty?
