

Keir Starmer, the austerian

This damning indictment of Sir Keir Starmer was published by Channel 4 News last night:

What is made clear is that Starmer was an authoritarian Director of Public Prosecutions, seeking harsh sentences for trifling offences.

He was an austerian, willingly delivering the cuts the Tory government that he served demanded.

Like his Tory masters, he was willing to undermine the quality of public services for the sake of cash. The public suffered, and still suffers, as a result.

And the supposedly left-wing lawyer was not to be seen.

You have been warned.
