

The Reform Party manifesto

I have taken political party manifestos seriously at this election, presuming that they have been offered in good faith, even if many of them are riddled with holes.

However, I refuse to believe that Nigel Farage does anything with good intent and reports from others suggest that his manifesto was written on a fag packet and edited on a soggy beer mat, and I have better things to do than talk about it.

So if you want to know what he said, do you mind looking elsewhere?
