

The new introduction to my video channel

Published: January 13, 2026, 5:35 am

---

We realised last week that the introduction video on my YouTube channel was well over three years old, so we made a new one. This is it:

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=L7iy4WN4KXc>

And there is no transcript this time: it is an introduction to the video, after all.

Remarkably few people from the blog seem to actually view these videos, even though on many days the videos now get more views than this bog gets reads. Might you give this one a go? It's not very long.

Comments are welcome, except from trolls (although they will turn up anyway, I have no doubt).