

Funding the Future

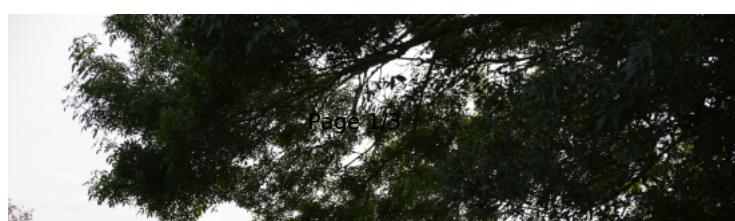

It was a day for a walk

Published: January 13, 2026, 12:13 pm

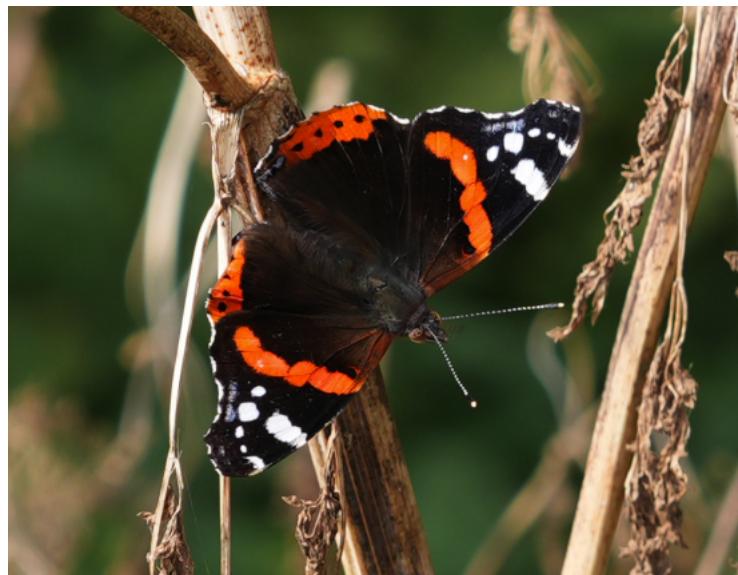

It was a day for a walk:

It was worth keeping to the cool shade. It was hot out there:

There were red admirals to admire:

And damsel flies (I think this is one of them, rather than a dragonfly):

And I have permission to post this that reflects the warmth of the day:

