

Funding the Future

Not everything Labour is doing is a cock-up

Published: January 15, 2026, 8:54 am

This morning's coffee after a walk resulted in a conversation with my wife that, in turn, resulted in these tweets:

 Richard Murphy  @RichardJMurphy · 2h ...
As John Rawls said, no social or economic policy is ethical unless it provides the greatest benefit to the least advantaged. Rachel Reeves and @UKLabour, please take note.

14 99 200 6K

 Richard Murphy  @RichardJMurphy · 2h ...
Not everything @UKLabour is doing is a cock-up. Much of it already looks very like a part of a neoliberal conspiracy against the most vulnerable in favour of those with wealth.

14 98 221 6.8K

 Richard Murphy  @RichardJMurphy · 2h ...
Whenever you listen to Rachel Reeves ask one simple question, which is who gains most from what she's proposing? Unless it's those who need most support in our society she will betraying everything @UKLabour should stand for.

25 228 494 8.9K

 Richard Murphy  @RichardJMurphy · 2h ...
Unless you protect the most vulnerable in society you're delivering neoliberal economic policy.

7 84 204 7.5K