Danny Blanchflower and I have been on other people's YouTube channels. This was Danny on Owen Jones' channel yesterday:

I also noted that Polotics Joe had put out my interview from Thursday as a separate YouTube:

Why does this matter? That's because getting our ideas out to a wider audience is key to creating change.

Which is also why being on other media helps, and I have been on LBC twice in the last couple of days. This all takes time, but that's how change happens.
