

Moderation today

There were some mild rumblings yesterday that moderation on this blog took quite a long time to happen yesterday morning. I am afraid that might be the same today and on Monday. I might have announced my forthcoming retirement, but my commitments to what I call 'the day job' have not ended as yet, and have to be honoured.

I will moderate as and when I can today, but please be tolerant if there is a delay. These things happen.
