

Apologies

Published: January 12, 2026, 11:41 pm

---

As anyone who left a comment today will have noticed, it took me a long time to clear all comments. Please accept my apologies. Clearing the projects I have to complete before retiring from employment at the end of February is proving to be pretty demanding in terms of time.

I admit that I am looking forward to March, when I will have more time to concentrate on blogs and videos and the research required to support their expansion, which I would like to undertake.