This will annoy Trump

In fairness, this is going to mightily annoy Trump:

It was an honour to welcome @ZelenskyyUa to Downing Street and reiterate my unwavering support for Ukraine.

I am determined to find a path that ends Russia's illegal war and ensures a just and lasting peace that secures Ukraine's future sovereignty and security.

Slava Ukraini.

I'll give Starmer credit for that but what is he playing at?

Has he abandoned the creeping to Trump position of Thursday?

Is he creeping to Europe now?

Or is this the 'UK as a bridge' strategy in play?

More will become apparent today, perhaps.

I also hope there is talk of peace today: that has to be the goal. In amongst the sabre rattling which appears to be in favour with some, this has to be what any goal should be.
