

What is it that Keir Starmer is missing?

Published: January 12, 2026, 11:16 pm

This post was on Twitter a couple of days ago, and has been sent to me:

Larry the Cat
@Number10cat

Follow

I'm not saying Trump is a Russian asset, just that I can't think of anything he'd be doing differently if he were.

 CNN Breaking News  @cnnbrk · 2d

President Donald Trump is ordering a pause on military aid to Ukraine after a hostile Oval Office meeting with Ukrainian President Volodymyr Zelensky
cnn.it/3F6DAdJ

09:20 · 04/03/2025 · 489K Views

I agree with Larry the Cat to the extent that he is right to say that there is nothing more Trump could do to suggest he is a Russian asset.

I also think the word agent could be substituted for asset in that comment without difficulty.

In that case, since he acts and talks like a Russian agent, let's get off the fence. Let's assume that is exactly what he is.

So, why does Keir Starmer keep saying he is a reliable friend? What is it that he is missing? And why?