

Funding the Future

The IEA and anarcho-capitalism

Published: January 12, 2026, 11:32 pm

I got this in an email from the far-right Institute of Economic Affairs yesterday:

EVENT: In Conversation with David Friedman

Join us at the Institute of Economic Affairs

INSTITUTE OF ECONOMIC AFFAIRS
APR 1 · PREVIEW

READ IN APP ↗

We are delighted to invite our paid subscribers to an upcoming IEA event, 'In Conversation with David Friedman'. This event will occur on Wednesday, 7th May, from 18:00 – 20:30 at the IEA (2 Lord North Street, Westminster, London, SW1P 3LB).

David D. Friedman, son of Nobel laureate Milton Friedman, is a leading proponent of anarcho-capitalism, the theory that the state is an unnecessary evil and that all services, including the law itself, can be provided by voluntary cooperation in the private economy.

Spaces are limited and will be given on a first-come-first-serve basis, with priority given to paid IEA Insider subscribers. ...

Do I need to say anything more, except to ask why it is that this organisation gets such prominence from the BBC?

Would you give a platform to David Friedman and his views?