

The neoliberal's prayer

Published: January 13, 2026, 5:39 am

From Mike Parr, a equal commentator on this blog:

Our market which art in heaven,
Hallowed be thy name
Thy perfect competition come.
Thy will be done in earth,
as it is in hedonistic utopia;
Give us this day our daily arbitrage
And forgive us our pulling a fast one on the other fellah, as we forgive those who pull a fast one against us.
And lead us not into wokery, but deliver us from lefties For thine is the market and the power and the neoliberalism, forever and ever.
Amen.