

What is up with the Guardian?

What is up at the Guardian? I note that at 10:30 this morning none of the normal comment pieces that I would expect to have been posted on its website have, as yet, appeared.

Yesterday's editorials have not been posted to the site as yet, let alone today's.

And, the featured opinion article dates from 29th April.

Are they in trouble?

Do they have no staff?

Is the problem of posting daily overwhelming them? They have my sympathy in that case.

What I do know is that if they wish to be taken seriously, they cannot post like this.
