I posted this on Twitter this afternoon:

I have not, as yet, posted the video on any other platform.

I admit this is an experiment. I used a DJI Action Pro, which is a camera I am not very familiar with. I also made, and then managed to add, the B-roll near the start when editing this video in Descript, something I have never managed before, and which I am sure could be done better.

But if you can get onto Twitter, I hope it is worth watching. I admit, I enjoyed making it, and that doing this could be fun.

And if you think I look hot in the video, I can assure you, I was.
