

Funding the Future

How bad are things in Gaza?

Published: January 13, 2026, 2:49 am

This tweet is staggering:

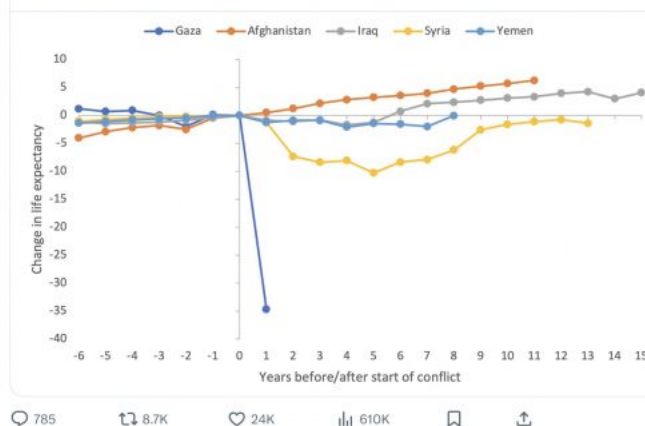

Francesca Albanese, UN Special Rapporteur on the rights of indigenous peoples @Fran... · 1d · · ·
For those who "it can't be genocide as the Palestinian population is growing".

Gaza has had the largest drop in life expectancy of any places on earth in modern history:

Noah Carl @NoahCarl90 · 3d

Life expectancy over time in Gaza, along with four other countries that experienced wars in recent decades.

We are used to crises, conflicts, wars and their consequences. I wish that were not the case, but they have happened throughout my life, and maybe they always will.

However, Gaza is nothing like the others. This is genocide by a member of the military industrial complex against a population almost entirely without support, and the result is literally deadly.

Let's not pretend that what the Israeli government is doing isn't an assault on human life itself.

We should all be hurting with the people of Gaza.

We should all be condemning Israel.

We should all demand an end to this onslaught, genocide and ethnic cleansing.

Meanwhile, our government is still actively supporting the Israeli government.