As the BBC reports:

US President Donald Trump is directing that the Department of Defense be known as the Department of War.

He will sign an executive order on Friday for the defence department to use the new name as a secondary title and for Defence Secretary Pete Hegseth to be known as Secretary of War.

It's been the Defence Department since 1948.

Now, it is to be about war.

You could say Trump is being honest as to his intentions.

At the same time, I strongly suspect most people would rather it be a Department of Peace. But that would not suit the egos of the Trump team.

No wonder I call this the Age of Aggression. That is exactly what it is.
