As I mentioned yesterday morning, I was in London yesterday recording a podcast with Zack Polanski, the leader of the Green Party in England and Wales.

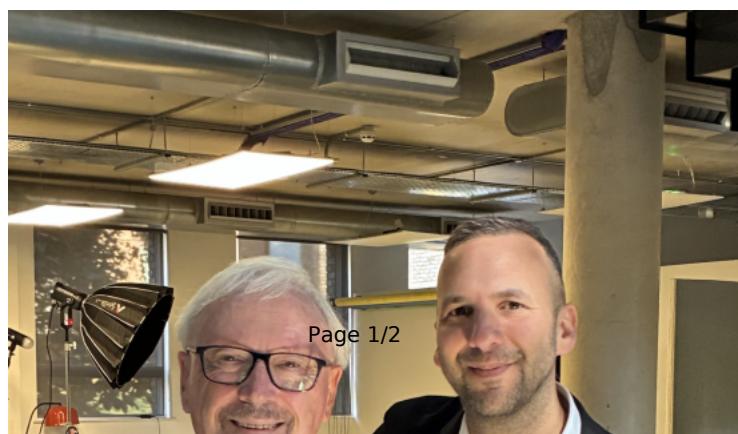

This picture was taken by my son, Tom, who came to watch how someone else manages such processes.

Zack's podcast can be found here. He is attracting a good range of guests.

I will publish a video summarising our discussion later today.

Meanwhile, this picture was Zack's idea:

I can summarise that image like this: Zack seems to be embracing a lot of my thinking.
