I noticed an odd statistic relating to this blog this morning.

As this chart shows, during the course of yesterday this blog recorded its best ever year in its history:

Summary Stats ⓘ

The odd thing, of course, is that this happened on 16 September. At this rate we might approach (but not reach) 10 million views this year.

Maybe that answers my own question from earlier this morning about whether I am publishing too much content. It seems not.
