

Who is next?

Published: January 13, 2026, 3:12 am

---

Rayner has gone, brought down by kompromat.

Mandelson will go. It is just a matter of time.

So, who is next? Might it be Starmer?

It would not surprise me. We know he made considerable errors of ethical judgment on his way to being prime minister (think donated glasses, think freebie suits, think Arsenal tickets).

And we know he is ruthlessly indifferent to commitments he has made.

Why wouldn't there be more to leak?

Could it be that someone is just waiting for the right time?