

Christianists

Published: January 13, 2026, 10:10 am

There was a discussion here this morning.

Jaqueline was offended on behalf of Christians that white male so-called Christian nationalists claim the right to use the term Christian when they are clearly anything but that.

She felt another word was needed.

'Christianists' is the best we have to offer so far.

Thoughts?