

In progress

Published: January 13, 2026, 2:46 pm

I thought I would summarise what work is in progress here right now.

Significant themes in development are:

- * An alternative budget, which will come out in several parts, is now in draft.
- * Thoughts on housing reform.
- * Issues around a transition to independence in Scotland.
- * A guide to using AI. This will be 40 plus pages.
- * An outline of a book on the politics of care, which is growing quite fast.
- * A plan for a possible Funding the Future event next year,
- * The next stages of the quantum series, with several more chapters now under development as the idea has grown like topsy. Jacqueline is doing a lot of the drafting on this at present.
- * More 'economic questions'. There is no shortage of ideas.
- * More 'economic myths'. Similarly, there is no shortage of issues to address.
- * More glossary entries. Many have been requested.
- * Video developments, including more 'walking about', where James is writing scripts at present.
- * Tomorrow's video.

Life is not quiet right now.
