

PDFs

A number of people have asked of late if we might make it easier to share articles published here, and some suggested it would be good if we could add a function so that any article could be turned into a PDF for this purpose, because doing so using the print function on most computers was messy, at best.

As a result, we have now added this function. At the bottom of every article now, below the box where you can like a post, there is an item saying 'PDF of article'. Tap in it, and a PDF should appear that can be saved, archived, shared or whatever you choose.

I admit that I might find that useful. I hope you might, too.

Let me know if there are any problems. We've tested it, but there might still be bugs.

My thanks go to Andy Moyle for creating this, as usual.
