

This war will last for decades

Published: March 13, 2026, 6:29 am

Angry

Confused

Perplexed

Bewildered

Resentful

Frightened

Grieving

Lost

Vengeful

What would you feel if a foreign government was illegally bombing your home, or was ordering you from it, when all you wanted was the chance to live in peace with your family and friends?

Let's not pretend that the consequences of this war will end when Trump gets bored or stock markets tell him that it's time to stop the bombing.

Real lives, shattered by his indifference and the contempt he's shown will be changed forever by what he's done and some will never forget.

This war will last for decades; until the last victim dies. And maybe not then .

You cannot promote a politics of care when you pursue a politics of hate, and only one of them delivers a future of hope.