

Funding the Future

If you're not worried now, when might you ever be?

Published: April 5, 2026, 6:45 am

Trump posted this on his social media account yesterday afternoon:

[caption id="attachment_91400" align="aligncenter" width="550"]

What to think about that?[/caption]

As I suggested in a post yesterday, there must have been a reason why US Defence Secretary, Pete Hsgeth, sacked the senior US army general late last week.

Is it because of what is planned for tomorrow?

Are we crimes going to be committed.

If you are not worried, or even scared, why not? There are mad people in charge of weapons of mass destruction that they appear intent on using. If that's not enough to make you worried, what is?