

Starmer v Streeting: there is only one choice

Published: May 14, 2026, 12:19 pm

My oistamn, John, and I had a conversation this morning, as we have talked many times over the past decade.

Our topic? Who might lead Labour. We came to pretty much this conclusion:

He put Burnham above Miliband. I did it the other way around.

Thereafter, our ranking was the same.

Our mutual loathing of Wes Streeting was agreed upon. We were absolutely agreed that Starmer was better than Streeting. It is good to see the Labour membership agree.

He might have chosen to trigger this election, but I sincerely hope he comes last.
