I rarely put up a pole that receives an outcome like this, as yesterday's on what I should now be focusing upon did:

I think those who want me to focus on a new economic agenda here have definitely carried the day, and my own opinion aligns with that.

There will still be commentary on current affairs, but I will be spending my time thinking about solutions and not analysing how we got here, in the main.

We will be asking the same question on YouTube tomorrow. It will be interesting to see if there is a different answer.
