

This is what fascism looks like

Published: June 6, 2026, 7:39 am

This is what fascism looks like.

And note the similarity in the call for rage to what Farage has demanded.

This is the challenge we face. The promotion of hate in this way is the toxicity we are really facing:

JD Vance
@JDVance

Henry Nowak died the same way a civilization dies: abandoned, handcuffed by authorities who neither trusted nor cared for him, and accused of hate crimes he did not commit. His murder is as tragic as it is enraging. He should still be alive today, and he would be if the last few generations of European elites had stood their ground against the politics of self-hatred and the mass invasion of migrants, many of whom despise the West and the people who love it.

Henry was far from the first to so needlessly lose his life, and I fear he won't be the last. Each time a life like his is lost, the proper response—the only response—is righteous anger. One of the most important things the Trump administration has proven to the world is that stopping the flow of mass migration and defending national sovereignty is a matter of political will and leadership. Anything else is an excuse.

It is because we love the West that we want to preserve it. We love our civilization. We love our country. We love our children. And nobody—nobody—should ever die the way that Henry Nowak died. May God comfort those who loved him, and may God rest his soul.

Henry Nowak was murdered. Every murder is a tragedy, but it was not, as far as we know, a race crime. Even if it was, the crime was that of an individual. That cannot be extrapolated into a systemic failing

The police might have made mistakes, but they were given credible but deeply misleading information, and that is what contributed to Henry Nowak's death.

To promote hatred on the basis of this is what fascism, evil and the deliberate undermining of democracy looks like.

And I should add, Vice President J D Vance defended the killing of Renée Good and Alex Pretti by ICE operatives in Minneapolis earlier this year. He is a man whose judgment is already open to serious doubt.

And he is seeking to promote racial division in the UK.

It is our job to resist it.

The "othering" and clear racism in this tweet is reprehensible and rightly deserves to be described as fascist, because that is what it is, in my opinion.