

Last chance for Ely on Saturday

Published: October 1, 2026, 7:14 am

As many readers here will know, we are holding a Funding the Future event in Ely on Saturday.

The focus will be on solution-focused campaigning, the issues that we need to address, and what we can do to improve the prospects of change. There will, of course, be the opportunity to discuss issues around these themes, and the day will begin with an overview from me of where I see the world right now, but this is intended to be a participative day for around 50 people.

As is normal with such events, two people have had to drop out during the course of this week, and both have offered their tickets for others to use.

We do, as a result, have these available to give away to anyone who would like them. They have already been paid for, and refunds have not been requested, so they are being made available free of charge, although a donation would not be refused.

If you want to join us at noon on Saturday for an event that will last until around 5.30, please do email me using the contact information here.
