Novara Media has now published the interview recorded on Wednesday between Aaron Bastani and me. This is now available on YouTube, here:

The interview is two hours 15 minutes long, and I am astonished that anyone might want to listen to something that long, but there is a lot of evidence that people now do, and watch these things right through.

In this video, we covered a great deal of ground. If I can, I will do a summary of what we said, but as yet there is no transcript to do that from.
